

PRESIDENT RETURNS

Roosevelt Back in Washington After a Long Vacation.

STRONGLY GUARDED ON TRIP

Nation's Chief Executive Returns to White House in Splendid Health. Accompanied by His Family—Cheered at Stops Along the Route.

Washington, Sept. 23.—President Roosevelt arrived here from Oyster Bay, where he spent his summer vacation. He left the native town for Long Island City on the government yacht Sylph, accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt, Alice, Ethel, Archie and Quentin Roosevelt, Secretary Loeb and members of the clerical force who have labored so faithfully during this summer at the executive offices in the village.

An hour after the president's staff left Oyster Bay by water a special train bearing the wives and children of the White House employees, the White House messengers and the official records left for Long Island City. Attached to the special train was a car bearing the president's horse. The passengers and freight of this special train reached Jersey City at about the same time as the president arrived there on the Sylph, and all then proceeded to Washington on a Pennsylvania railroad train.

The president was strongly guarded on the trip, and the crowd that gathered around him at the depot was kept at a distance and closely watched. At the few stops made along the route to Washington there were cheers and calls for a speech.

Mr. Roosevelt has enjoyed his vacation as much and as strenuously as he has enjoyed other vacations, and he returned to Washington fit in every particular physically to enter upon a period of hard work.

On Wednesday the president and Mrs. Roosevelt took their last horseback ride for the summer through the village of Oyster Bay. The president and his wife came in a fast gallop from over the hill toward the summer White House, both laughing as they dashed through the streets. It was a merry sight, and, impulsively, citizens who chanced to be in the street at the time shouted, "Hurrah for the president of the United States!" Without stopping their horses, Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt went flying through the village and were soon lost to sight on the Bayville road.

The president expects to stay in Washington until election day, when he will return to Oyster Bay in order to cast his vote. He expects to get there early in the morning and return to Washington that afternoon.

EASTLAND FREE.

Man on Trial for Murder of Luther Holbert Discharged.

Indianola, Miss., Sept. 23.—The trial of C. C. Eastland for the murder of Luther Holbert and his wife by causing them to be burned at the stake has been suddenly ended.

After the evidence was all in, Senator McLaurin made a motion for peremptory instructions to the jury for the discharge of the prisoner on the ground that not a scintilla of evidence tending to prove that Eastland had been in any way a party to the lynching or had in any way aided or abetted the burning had been introduced.

District Attorney Neill arose and said that in view of the failure of witnesses to connect Eastland with the lynching he would ask the court to grant Senator McLaurin's motion. The judges thereupon discharged Eastland, and a storm of applause broke out from the vast crowd, which was promptly checked by the judge. Mr. Eastland was almost carried bodily from the courthouse.

Wife Murderer Attempts Suicide.

Philadelphia, Sept. 23.—Samuel Anthony, colored, a circus performer, murdered his wife and then attempted suicide. Jealousy is said to have been the cause of the tragedy. The crime was discovered by the two children of the couple, who found their parents in bed covered with blood. It is supposed that Anthony cut his wife's throat while she slept and then gashed his own throat.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 23.—Justice D. Cady Herrick, the nominee of the New York Democratic convention for governor, is receiving scores of letters and telegrams of congratulations. Shortly after his nomination he said that he would resign as justice as soon as he finished up the work he had on hand and would speak during the campaign.

C. F. MARTIN DEAD.

Secretary of National Live Stock Association Passes Away in Wyoming.

Denver, Colo., Sept. 23.—Word has reached here that Charles F. Martin, secretary of the National Live Stock association, while journeying to Cheyenne, Wyo., from this city, was seized with a hemorrhage of the lungs and expired a few minutes after being removed from the train at Greeley, Colo. Mr. Martin had long been afflicted with pulmonary trouble. He is survived by a widow, who was notified by message of his death.

When the National Live Stock association was organized in Denver several years ago Mr. Martin was chosen secretary and was unanimously re-elected at each annual meeting of the organization. Through his position he became one of the best known men in the west and had a host of friends.

Mr. Martin also had an enviable newspaper career, having edited several papers in the west and held important position on others. He superintended the first government live stock census.

Frost Damages Connecticut Crops.

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 23.—Frost fell all over Connecticut except on the south shore, doing damage to crops to a noticeable extent. Official thermometers at the weather bureau here registered 34 as the lowest point, a figure which has been reached but once in September since the office was established. The atmosphere was very dry, which probably saved standing crops from heavy damage, although tender vegetables were well nipped.

Henry W. Taft Dead.

Pittsfield, Mass., Sept. 23.—Henry W. Taft, aged eighty-six years, the oldest member of the Berkshire bar, died after an illness of two weeks. Mr. Taft was born in Montague and was admitted to the Berkshire bar in 1841. For forty-one years he was clerk of the courts. He was once editor of the Massachusetts Eagle. Mr. Taft had been president of the Third National bank since it was incorporated in 1881.

To Omit Government Secrets.

Washington, Sept. 23.—Because it is believed that foreign governments are learning entirely too much regarding the inside workings of the American navy and are picking from the annual reports of the bureau chiefs too much information which should be of a confidential character a change will be made this year in the preparation of the annual reports, and much that has hitherto been included in these papers will be omitted. It also has been decided to omit the unreviewed estimates of the bureau chiefs.

BREATHITT COUNTY FEUD.

Case Transferred From Jackson to Lexington—Officers Arrest Britton.

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 23.—The hearing of the Breathitt county feud case has been transferred from Jackson, Ky., to this city by the indictment here of William Britton on the charge of killing James Cockrell, town marshal of Jackson, two years ago. A large posse, including officers of three counties, started after Britton, determined to get him dead or alive, and a Louisville dispatch says they have arrested him.

Deputy Sheriff Terry and Coroner Bailey of Fayette county, who were given a bench warrant from that county for Britton, effected the arrest without trouble. Britton was taken completely by surprise at his home. Mrs. Britton quickly sent word to County Judge James Hargis, who is a cousin of Britton, saying that her husband had been arrested and asking that the judge send men to release him.

A posse of Britton's friends has left Jackson to meet Deputy Terry, but the latter, hearing of this, started with his prisoner in a buggy for Torrent, in Wolfe county. He will take the train at Torrent for Lexington unless he is overpowered en route by Britton's friends.

CRUISERS REPAIRED.

Russian Ships at Vladivostok Are Now Ready For Sea.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 23.—Captain Cladot, Vice Admiral Skrydloff's chief of staff, has arrived here from Vladivostok with important dispatches for the emperor. In an interview Captain Cladot said that the repairs to the protected cruiser Bogatyre had been completed; that the damages to the armored cruisers Gromoboi and Rossia did not necessitate their going into dry dock and that both were fit to resume active service. He admitted that the chief mission of these vessels is to prey upon commerce, but says they had a hard fight with Vice Admiral Kamimura's ships when the latter attempted to cut off their retreat. Captain Cladot said that the Russians will be unable to recapture Port Arthur, in the event of its fall, without having the mastery of the sea, and he has urged the dispatch of every available ship to the far east, including the Black sea fleet.

Admiral Birleff, the Russian naval commander at Cronstadt, has ordered the battleship Orel, the cruisers Oleg and Jemiching and the transport Kamininka to be ready for sea on Sept. 25 and the cruiser Izumrud on Sept. 29. The captains have been granted full powers to use the whole of the dockyard staff at Cronstadt, which is working night and day in order to complete the trial of these vessels by the date specified. They will then join Vice Admiral Rojestvensky's squadron.

It is said on good authority that Grand Duke Alexis, the high admiral, favors sending out the Baltic fleet to the far east by way of Cape Horn, but it is still undecided whether the fleet will start this year.

JAPANESE ADVANCING.

Kuropatkin Says Operations Against Mukden Are Rapidly Developing.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 23.—The Japanese operations against Mukden are rapidly developing. General Kuropatkin announces that the Japanese army at Bentshaputze is beginning to advance northward. The outposts Wednesday tried to capture Kaoutou pass, commanding the road to Fushun. The Russians are offering a stubborn resistance, which is likely to retard decisive operations.

Kuropatkin has placed strong forces astride the Mukden and Fushun roads to Bentshaputze. The Russians are also holding all the passes of the Da range eastward of Bentshaputze.

A dispatch from Harbin announces that another Japanese regiment is moving farther eastward, but it is regarded as improbable that the Japanese will move in considerable force from Dalimchan along the roads leading to Mukden, Fushun and Sinsintin. Severe fighting is probable before the Japanese succeed in reaching the Hun river.

There is no further news from Port Arthur, but the anxiety as to the fate of its gallant defenders has been relieved by foreign telegrams received here announcing that the Japanese have not captured any important positions.

RUSSIANS SHELL STATION.

Czar's Troops Reconnoitering Along the Japanese Frontier.

General Kuropatkin's Headquarters in the Field, Sept. 23.—The Russians are reconnoitering along the Japanese frontier with a large force of cavalry, supported by guns.

With three guns they appeared within 6,000 yards of Yental station and threw a few shells at the station. They continued the cannonading at intervals all day.

The Russian force on the Mukden road extends from Shulho, eight miles north of Yental, to Tsaofoitsu, five miles northeast.

ANOTHER FORT TAKEN.

Important Height at Port Arthur Reported Taken by Japs.

Tokyo, Sept. 23.—While official confirmation is lacking, it seems certain that the Japanese possess a fort on another height westward of Itzshan, which they carried by desperate assaults and have since held against all attempts to recapture by the Russians. Both these heights overlook Port Arthur, offering excellent gun positions which materially weaken the Russian defense.

Russian Casualties at Liaoyang.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 23.—The general staff has issued a revised list of the Russian casualties at Liaoyang, showing that 1,810 men were killed, that 10,811 were wounded and that 1,217 were left on the field. General Oku on Capture of Liaoyang.

Tokyo, Sept. 23.—General Oku has written an extended report of the operations preceding the capture of Liaoyang, and in conclusion he expresses the opinion that General Kuropatkin had determined to hold Liaoyang, his plan being first to attack and defeat General Kuroki and then to assault the Japanese center and left armies. Oku declares that the stubborn resistance of the Russians at Liaoyang proves that their retreat was not prearranged.
